NIGER

In partnership with:
SIM (Serving In Mission)

Background

LIFT has been asked back to Galmi Hospital.

The Galmi hospital is an accident and emergency hospital in Niger, one of the poorest countries in the world. SIM (Serving In Mission) not only runs the hospital, it also seeks to open hearts to the Gospel.

This will be our eighth time in Niger but any of the previous team members will tell you that it is a special calling to work for the Lord in such a harsh and barren country. It has been a privilege to work alongside the missionaries and local workers at this hospital.

The Project

The priority is electrical work, wiring the new surgical ward and general repairs in the missionary compound.

Skills required

- Two electricians
- Four people with building skills
- Four handy persons
- One cook to help with the meals

Number on team

Up to 11 people

When?

November 2010

To make the project viable we would ask for a donation of:
£1,100 (approximately)
